Preview of Individual Plans for Kansans Now Available

Topeka, Kan. – Today, the Kansas Insurance Department announced Kansans interested in individual health insurance plans through the exchange now have the ability to preview available plans for 2021 at Healthcare.gov. Open enrollment officially begins November 1 and runs through December 15.

“For those Kansans who are already on the individual exchange or are interested in signing up, this preview period is a great opportunity to put together a plan before open enrollment begins,” Insurance Commissioner Vicki Schmidt said. “Even if you like the plan you currently have, it does not hurt to see what is available to make sure you are getting the best plan for you.”

The Kansas Insurance Department would also like to remind Kansans of the importance of understanding the details of a policy. Across the country, there has been an increase in deceptive marketing tactics, especially during open enrollment. Healthcare.gov is the only official site in Kansas for plans offered on the individual exchange.

For Kansans interested in plans not offered on the exchange, there are options available. It is important for Kansans to remember some of these plans are less expensive because they come with reduced coverages. Regardless of which plan you choose for you and your budget, you are strongly encouraged to understand the details before picking a plan.
